Windows 8 is Microsoft's latest operating system, which aims to consolidate all the features that Windows has brought to the table for a couple of years. Because Windows 8 is an upgrade to Windows 7, users will find that many features from Windows 8 are common between Windows 7 and Windows 8. But if you are downloading the.iso file, there is a chance that your new PC may be running Windows 8 already. A new user may be in for some disappointment. As soon as you are running a new Windows version, you will be presented with a preview of the Start screen and a new desktop. You will also have to re-download all your software. Windows 8 is a much better desktop operating system than its predecessor, Windows 7. It is more intuitive and easier to use. With a more simplified way to control the PC, Windows 8 is more attractive and easily navigated. Windows 8 upgrade now: A guide to a new Windows 8 system Windows 8 upgrade: what to expect Windows 8 provides a sophisticated and user-friendly interface for the desktop. With a new user interface, the latest operating system is more open than previous versions of Windows; it allows greater control over your PC, and also makes it easier to get your job done. Windows 8 upgrade now Is your system compatible with Windows 8? Many upgrades are installed relatively easily, and it is usually only the old-fashioned hardware that prevents you from running the new operating system. As mentioned earlier, Windows 8 provides a new interface that is compatible with a range of modern devices. Even though Windows 8 is compatible with a large number of devices, there are a few restrictions that cannot be accommodated by the software. The hardware needs to be able to use the new Universal Application Model, in order to run Windows 8. The CPU speed also needs to be above 1GHz to be able to handle Windows 8. Note that not all graphics-capable systems are compatible with Windows 8; in particular, integrated graphics cards do not provide a suitable user experience.

It will be based on the popular comic book character Judge Dredd and it will be an ensemble film with many different characters. The cast will include Olivia Thirlby, Kevin Bacon, Karl Urban, Zoë Tapper, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, and more. We now have some new and more in-depth images from the set of the movie. The movie is expected to start filming in May 2017. Check them out below. This particular set shot was from the Dredd comic series. The set was actually Dredd's office in Mega City One. Looks like this would be an office in Mega City One It also looks like one of the building's is actually a prison. Looks like the judge made an arrest. This looks like the inside of a courtroom. Maybe this is some kind of alternate universe of Dredd's future? This set shot was from Issue #1 of the comic. Looks like a flashback of some kind. Hopefully there will be some more set pics released soon. We'll keep you posted. SOURCE: Geeks WorldWide Ask HN: Could Google and YC support a new startup, if they were interested? - ohvi I have an idea for a start-up that doesn't have anything to do with social networks, but I'm not too sure if it would be possible for us to apply for an investment from YC or Google. Does anyone have any experience with this? I'm one of the many co-founders who has never heard of the funding program before now, but I'd like to know more if possible.Thanks! ====== pg You've never
